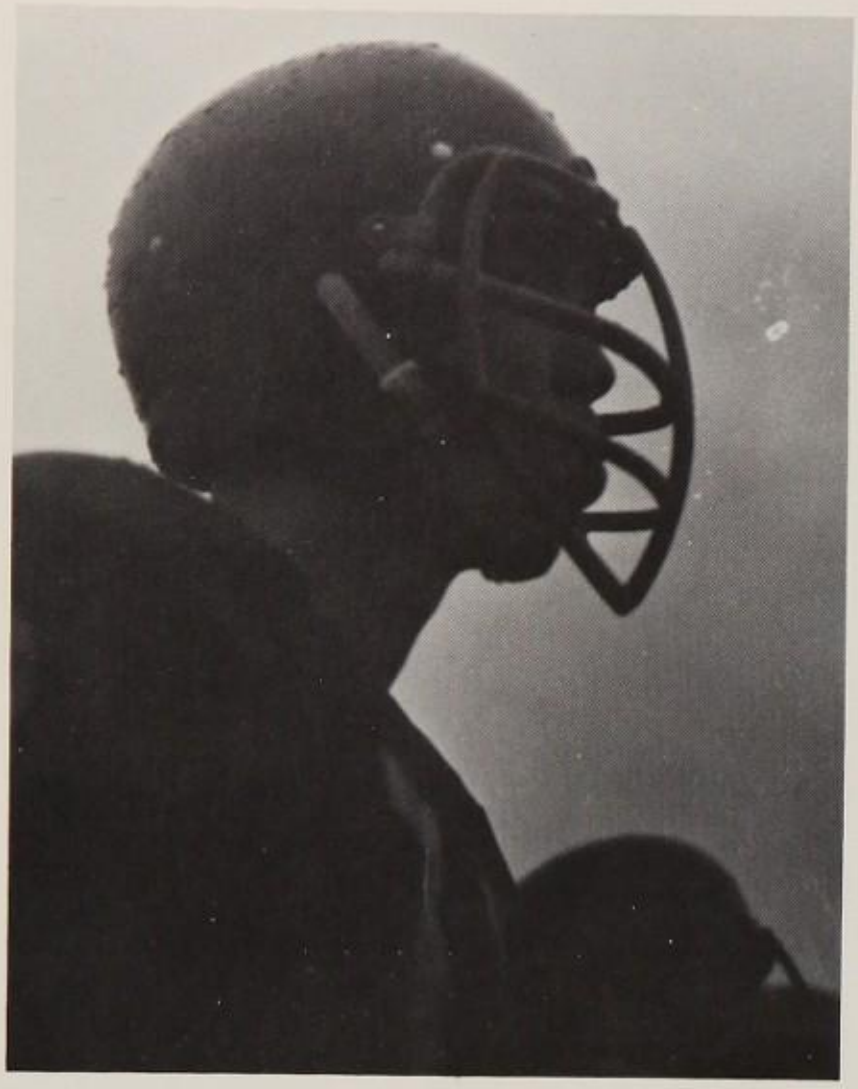
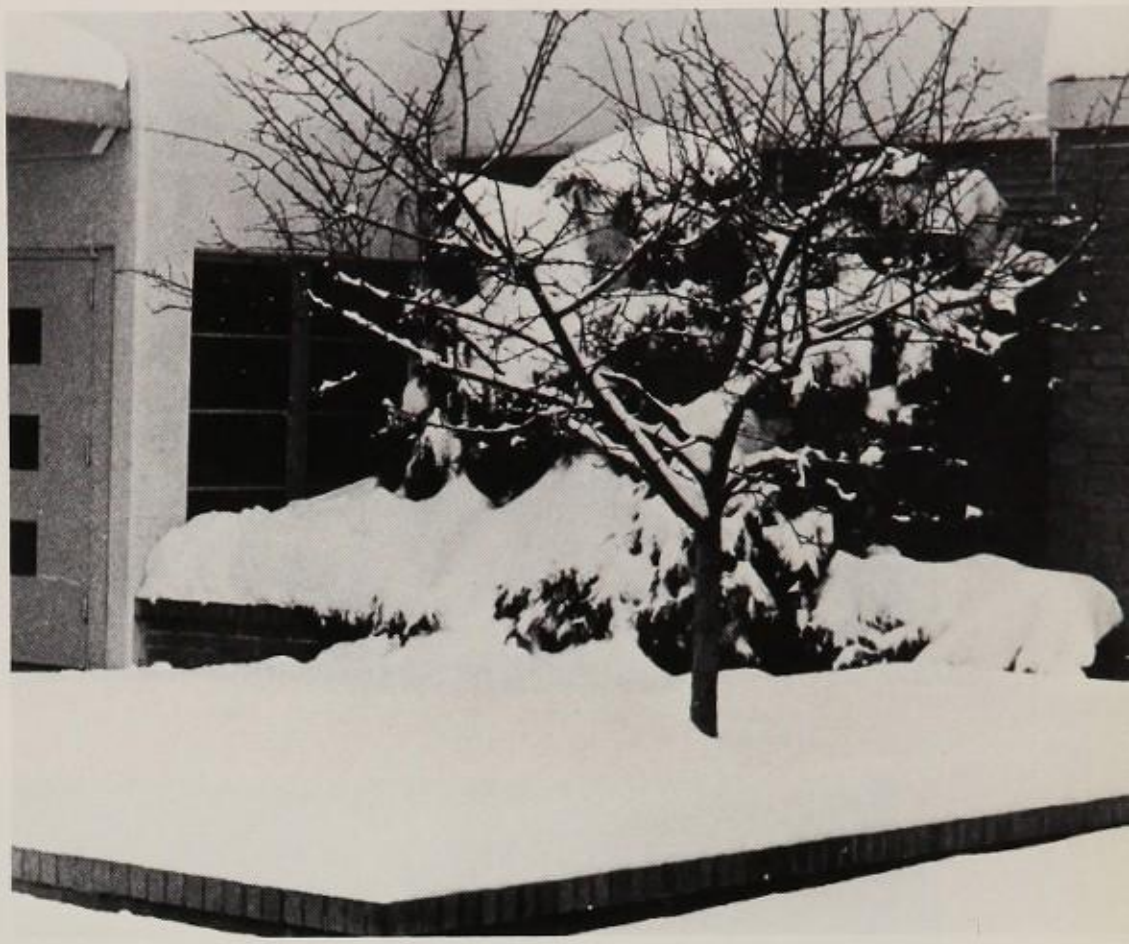
Life As the Student Lives It





East High lives only through the participation of its students. By our unified efforts we give East High School its reputation for its integrity and pride. This makes up the scene we experience and remember during the year of 1968 — 1969.

Maxine Sorenson, Counselor, helped Connie Sprenger with a program change. BELOW: Bremerton School Board.

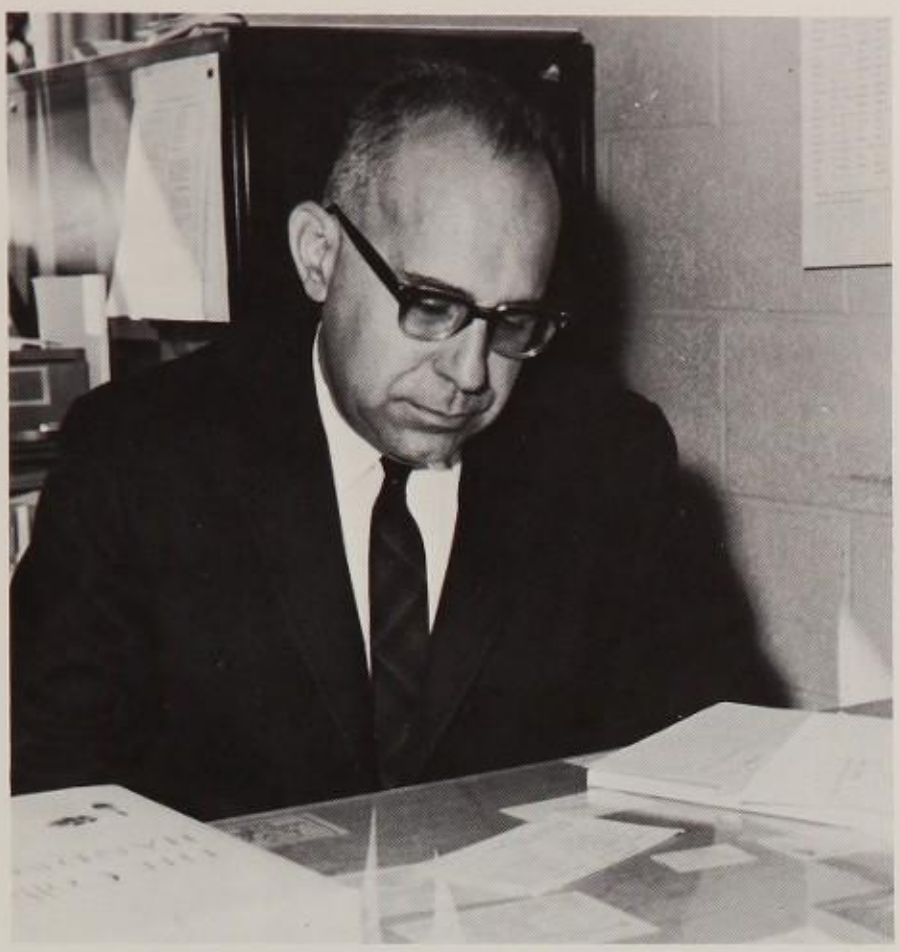
East's Administrators Leadership During

Constant changes and staggering decisions marked the East High administration's year. To many, long hair, micro-minis, and drugs belonged in a foreign milieu, one seldom explored and often misunderstood by outsiders.

However, to East's school administrators, these problems were very real and too often recurrent. Handling each new situation calmly, the principals and counselors aided students in making their endless decisions.

Dr. Warren Leaden, Dr. James Hoffner

Mr. Harold Wischhoefer, Dr. Robert Randall, Mrs. Margaret Taylor



Cornelius Spinola, Counselor

Terry Lindquist, Vice Principal

Provide Progressive The Entire Year

This year saw the arrival of three new members of the administration; Terry Lindquist, East's Vice Principal, Norman Menzie, District Personnel Director, and Dr. James Hoffner, Superintendent of Bremerton Schools.

Progressive teaching methods also marked this year; team teaching, flexible scheduling, flexible class size, non-graded continuous progress and independent study all enabled East students to learn more effectively.

United States Representative Floyd Hicks, visiting East, reminisced with Principal Scheyer about coaching days at Snohomish High.

Dr. Frank Rosendale, Mr. E. A. Matlock

Mr. Ed Day, Mr. Norman Menzie, Miss Bessie Hyde

Communications Form

This year, East's English Department, headed by Mr. Curtis Holum, placed special emphasis on teaching the student to express himself logically and openly. The instructors provided the student with the necessary literary tools he needed to express himself clearly. They also strove to stimulate the formation of sound ideas.

Mr. Curtis Holum, Humanities, Developmental Reading

Mrs. Carolyn Merrifield, English, Journalism

Mrs. Audrey Boyer, English, Yearbook

Basis of English

The video-tape machine was a new addition to the audio-visual aids used in the English classes. Through its use, speeches at school could be taped to be shown at a later time. Another type of approach to learning was seen in small study groups and individual study plans which the students took part in to discuss different literary works.

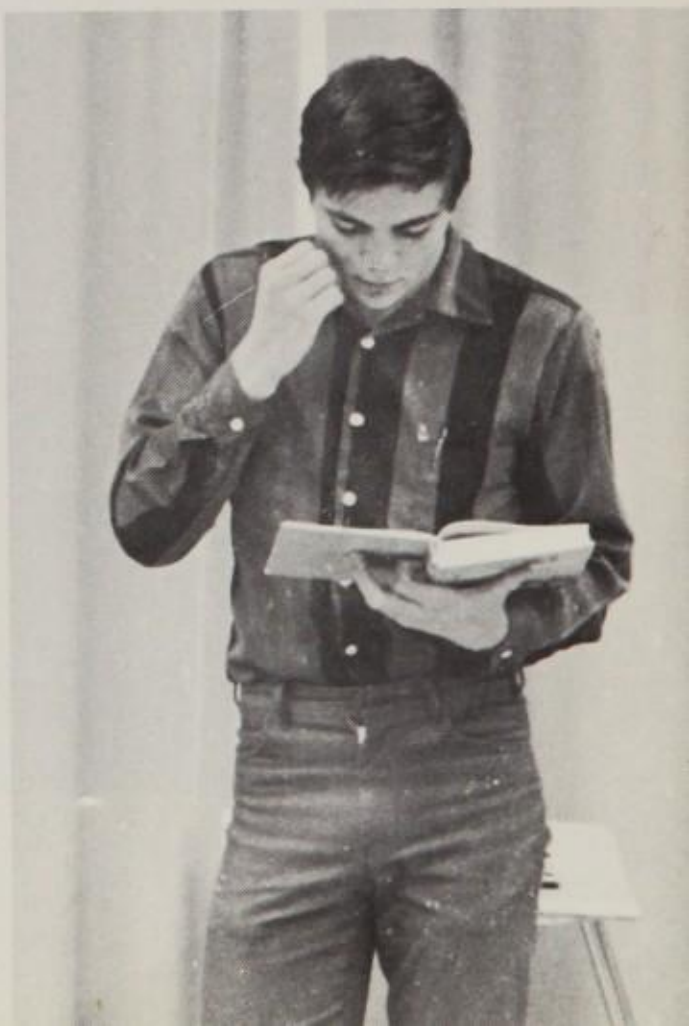
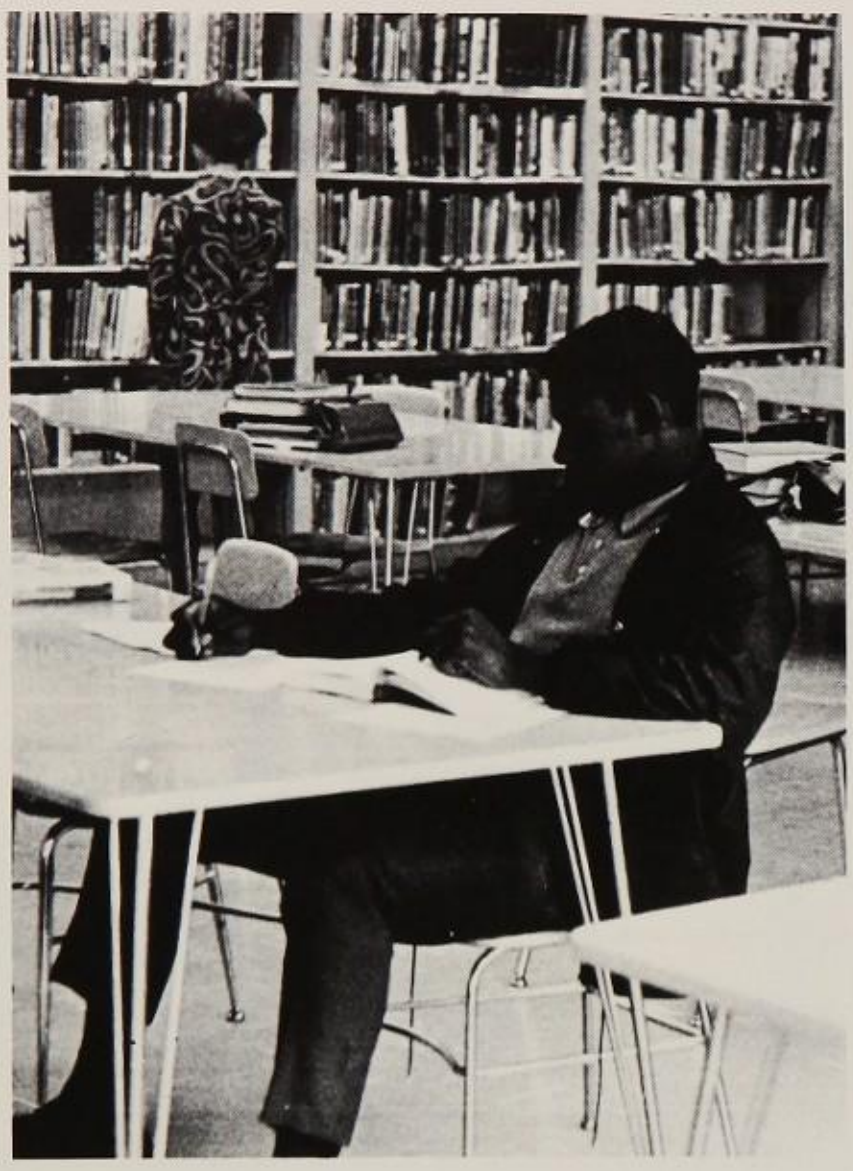
BELOW: Dividing the classes into small discussion groups taught the students the importance of expressing their own ideas and respecting those of others.

BELOW: Pat Farrell was thoughtful as he read his lines.



Music Piped Into Library



ABOVE: As a reservior of resources, the library was used by students to obtain information for research papers as shown by Jack Floyd. BELOW: Aided by her two assistant librarians Mrs. Frances Swanson and Mrs. Marilyn Cunningham, Mrs. Charlotte Luz managed the library.

Through the combined efforts of the librarian staff, East High's library maintained its reputation as an effective resource center. At sometime during the year, almost every student entered its doors, whether it be to track down that popular new novel, or to seek information for a term paper. Soothing music, via pipes, provided students with a pleasant atmosphere in which to locate references.

Mrs. Penny Pertner, sophomore English; Mrs. Florence Justin, junior English

Languages Help Bridge the Gap

The knowledge of a foreign language and the ability to speak it fluently are valuable assets in bridging the communication gap between foreign countries. With this objective in mind, the Language Department, headed by Lillian Martin, offered French, Spanish, Latin, German, and Russian courses. Visual aids such as films and displays supplemented the regular classwork in creating an understanding of the traditions and history of foreign countries.

Bob Miles consulted the language laboratory in preparation for his second-year German class.

Mr. James Dykes, German, English. Miss Janine Hess, German.

Mrs. Florence Justin, Latin, English

Miss Lillian Martin, French, English

Miss Peggy Stemmons, Spanish

Social Studies Builds

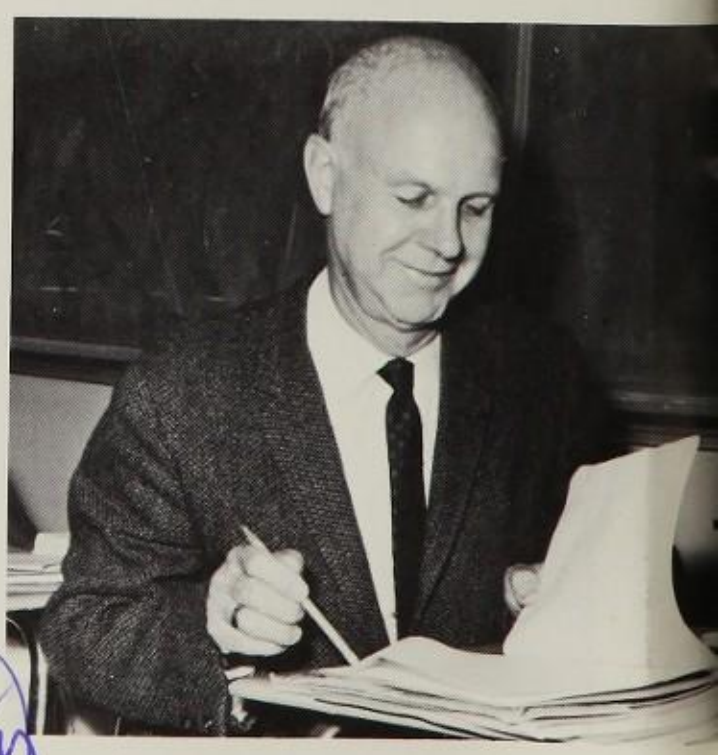
A common goal was shared by the members of the Social Studies Department this year, that of preparing students to become informed, active citizens. Students studied a series of swiftly changing events, history, to gain a better understanding of the present and a concern for the future. Being well informed was strongly stressed in Junior and Senior history classes this year with a study of contemporary affairs and government.

Mr. Warren McGinnis and Mr. David Holmer, Social Studies.

Freshmen studied world events dating back to ancient times and their effects on today's world in World History classes.

Cindy Hayford showed interest in her history class as she studied a map.

Mr. James Stelson and Mr. Ronald Gentry, Social Studies.



Mr. Art Broetje, Social Psychology

Toward Future Citizenship

Mr. Robert DeLange, Social Studies, Afro — American History. Mrs. Helen Tracy, Social Studies Department chairman.

Mr. Floyd Hicks spoke to social studies students on politics.

Industrious, concentrated study was mandatory in the junior Combo class taught by Mrs. Tracy.

Mr. Tim Clark, Social Studies, English. Mr. Orvin Olson, Social Studies.

Math, Science Departments Kept Up to

The importance of math and science is greater now than ever before. Therefore, East's math and science departments offered a wide range of courses. The subjects were difficult, but every student required at least a background in them, which was provided by algebra and biology. In these classes, good study habits and self-discipline were greatly developed. More advanced classes were available for those wishing to pursue the subjects. The Math Lab, new this year, was a quiet place to study or play chess and other games provided by the department.

Mr. Philip Pearson, Math, Physical Science.

Gary Moen, Roger Clark, and John Redenbaugh, physics students, determined the molecular thickness of oleic acid.

Hard Work Develops Excellence

Under the guidance of Mrs. Grace Wagner, the art students developed and displayed creative talents. Art classes were a refreshing break in the usual, systematized classroom routine.

Playing, singing, and marching in various concerts and parades was the work of the Music Department. Many hours of practicing were spent developing the students' individual skills. Instrumental sections were under supervision of Mr. Frank Stark, and Mr. LeRoy Spitzer directed the vocal groups.

Mr. Frank Stark, Instrumental Music and Mr. LeRoy Spitzer, Vocal Music, Drill Team.

Sue Floyd and Naomi Lee participated in chorus.

Fitness, Fun Both Part of P.E.

Development of the student physically as well as mentally is a goal of East High. Good health is vital and was stressed to increase coordination, sportsmanship, and competitive spirit. Students were shown methods and rules for sports.

Under the supervision of Athletic Director Mr. Les Eathorne, freshmen and sophomores participated in cross-country, gymnastics, and calisthenics. Time was devoted in Girl's P.E. learning the Highland Fling in addition to regular activities.

Mrs. Dorothy Simcic, Office Practice, Steno; Mr. Ron Vehrs, Typing, Bookkeeping; Mrs. Judy Butler, Typing.

Pat Allen, Mike Denton, and Marlene Glover prepared for their first driving experience in Driver Education.

Business, Vocational

To develop the mature adult, East prepared the student by educating him in basic and vocational skills. Manual skills were taught in shop where students were helped to create fine, useful objects.

Driver Education was a course that became worth while to all who took it, as did Home Economics, a required class for girls in which they were instructed in the practice of caring for a home and family. Business Education seeked to guide the student as he acquired skills that may lead to a future job in the business world.

Jeff Connally measured a board in wood shop.

Classes Help Many

Mr. James Hassett, Driver Education.

Mr. Philip Royer, Distributive Education.

Mrs. Anne Carter, Office Secretary.

Mrs. Irene Belt, Office Secretary.

Staff Works to Help the Student

Working diligently at their individual jobs to help the student was the staff of East.

Mrs. Carter had the job of recording attendence besides her other responsibilities. Mrs. Belt was in charge of writing up the bulletin which was very important to the student life of the school.

Mrs. Jennings was the counselors' secretary and took care of the correspondence for the counselors. Mrs. Turner, the school nurse, provided students medical care for those who needed it.

Mrs. Doris Jennings, Counselors' Secretary.

Mrs. Beulah Turner, School Nurse.

Jobs Display Skills

Making sure that the school was kept as clean and well repaired as possible were the custodians who each had their special duties.

Preparing the lunches each school day were the cooks. Their creations combined vitamins and variation with much skill.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Students Direct Government Action

Responsibility of governing East High School made strong leadership essential. Associated Student Body Officers along with the class and major club presidents, Knightimes and Shield editors made up the 1968-1969 Executive Council. They were vital in making East an efficient running body. Led by ASB President John Redenbaugh, the Council convened twice each month and discussed policies, reforms, and activities, making this a year of results.

Operating under leadership of ASB Vice President Ben Manchion, Traffic Court emphasized the importance of safe and legal driving.

Roger Clark thoughtfully considers a motion on the floor.

A motion is introduced by Brian Sokolowsky, and seconded by Dave Marks in a typical House meeting.

Students Voice Opinions in House

A trike race, a grub day, a treasure hunt, were a few of the activities organized in the House of Representatives during the year. It was not all fun and games however, and serious problems were discussed and solved. Final decisions on issues originating in the Executive Council, rested with the House. A number of beneficial changes were made in school policy, among them, a new acceptance of non-union bands for school functions.

A.S.B. funds sent R. Clark and M. Bratonia to Seabeck.

Statewide Conferences Build Able Leaders

Many different aspects of leadership were stressed at leadership conferences across the state, which students from East attended last summer, under the sponsorship of various groups. Going to classes, participating in recreational activities, meeting in group discussions, and making many new friends, filled each day.

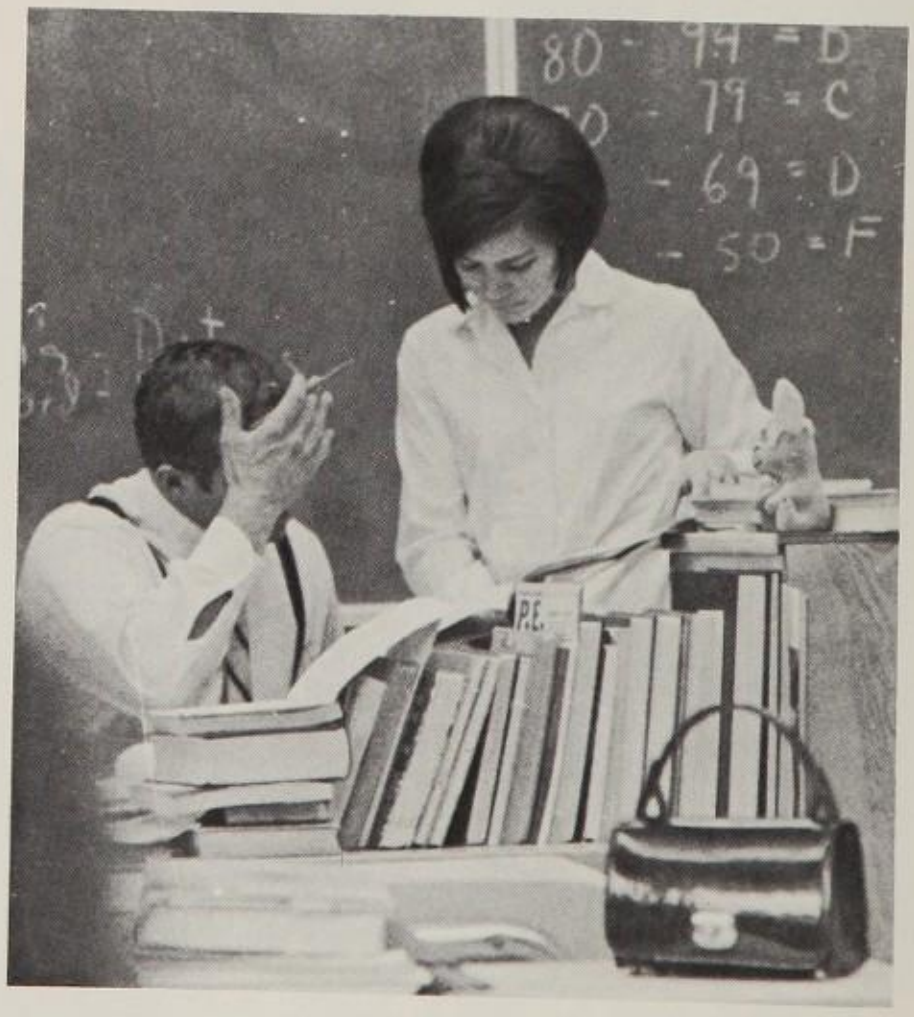
Larry Oliver, Sharon Gardner, Helen Boyer, and Gayla Grubic feigned the role of eager learners.

Studying Makes

Erudite members of East High made up the National Honor Society. Their achievement was made by extended periods of rumination over textbooks. However, the assimilation of facts entailed more. Carrying books, making trips to the scroll room and consulting faculty was part of their pursuit.

Ramona Fry, David Bray and Kathy Clinton carried a heavy load of decorated notebooks and Pee-Chees.



Kathyrn Moore frustrated Herr Dykes when she tried to explain German to him.

Way for Outstanding Achievement

Outstanding records of achievement were earned by these top senior scholars. Out of seven semesters of study, they consistently maintained a 3.5 grade point average. What has gone into making top senior scholars? Reams of paper, pens full of ink, and many textbooks were their tools. Long hours of conscientious study, term papers, projects, and enthusiasm in the search of knowledge were all a part of these students' struggle for success.

Walk Together, Talk Together

Promoting international understanding and providing for cultural exchange is the purpose of A.F.S. This was accomplished in many ways. Jim Kephart was in Tschagguns, Austria from August 1968 to July 1969. East had an A.F.S. week during which twenty exchange students visited East and talked to classes. In order to send another student abroad next year, East's A.F.S. added to the money from the A.S.B. cards by having a Food Fair and selling bonds.

When Jim Kephart and his Austrian family explored the Austrian countryside, he found it to be much like the Olympic Mountains. Pictured are: Jim's "sisters" Mitzie and Irmgard, Jim, Jim's "brother" Peter, and a friend, Deiter.

All Ye Peoples of the Earth

Debby Allan, A.F.S. student from Rhodesia, Africa, walked through the Horchs' door in August and East's door in September for a year's stay. Besides seeing her first snow, she fulfilled her lifelong dream by taking skiing lessons. At school, she joined many activities and she increased our understanding of Africa. She will always walk in our thoughts.

Boys' Club Holds Interest of Members

During the 1968-1969 school year, East's Boys' Club Cabinet members extended their club's wealth to others by contributing to the Red Cross, the March of Dimes, and A.F.S. In December, they lent their energy in helping the Girls' Club put up the annual Christmas tree in the cafeteria to spread the Christmas spirit during lunches and after school. At their meetings they made plans to sponsor a dance, and hold a boxing match at an assembly for the enjoyment of all the boys in the student body, and make them feel a part of the organization.

Craig Relling and Rick Relano radiated the feeling of happiness and understanding at the frosh-senior banquet.

Every shade of interest was seen at this boys' club-sponsored assembly.

East Profits from Activities of Girls' Club

Eighteen girls and four officers made up the Girls' Club Cabinet for 1968-1969. With the advice of Mrs. Maxine Sorenson, the cabinet sponsored, among other things, the big and little sister banquet, the Top Ten reception, the Homecoming dance, a father-daughter banquet, and the Mr. Irresistible contest. The "going steady game" and two fashion shows interested all the girls at assemblies during the year. Red dresses were worn as the cabinet uniform, and black t-shirts were used for grubbier occasions, such as selling popcorn at basketball games. The main objective of the club was to involve more girls, so all meetings and work parties were open to any interested girls.

Marcia Weiss and Mrs. Louis Soriano hosted the Girls' Club fashion show, "Autumn Leaves to Winter Eves."

Cyndy Nelson, Diane DeBard, Marijo Sewright, and Debbie Burritt did the can-can at the frosh-senior party.

Grandeur Is a Picture of Homecoming 1968

Homecoming festivities for 1968 began with the selection of the top ten girls from the senior class. After narrowing down the field to five girls, Cathy Boden was crowned as Homecoming Queen 1968. A grub day, a tricycle race, and a bonfire preceded the victorious football game with Shelton. Earlier that evening there was a car caravan and a float contest which was won by the sophomores. After the game, a dance was held in the school cafeteria to bring to an end the memorable festivities of the week.

Two, Three, Kick . . . Starts New Year

Starting in the fall the band performed halftime shows during the football season. They also played during basketball while the drill team and majorettes provided entertainment during halftime.

Because of the great success in selling candy in December, the band went on its annual trip to participate in a parade. Practicing in the summer through the heat and sweat resulted in entering the Seafair Parade to compete for prizes and the chance to march in the Torchlight Parade. Mr. Frank Stark began as the new band director.

Precision Performances

Time-consuming rehearsals and rigorous practices were what molded the East High Drill Team into a specimen of smiling girls performing precision and dance routines. The Seafair and Torchlight Parades were the first performances of the 68-69 year. During football season the group performed pre-game and half-time formations and routines with the band. The arrival of basketball season brought about a change in uniform. Gay striped dresses with large white collars and cuffs flashed as the Drill Team executed dance routines at home games. To finance travel expenses, candy was sold after school, and the entire music department sold Almond Roca candy before Christmas. In the spring marching in parades and welcoming ships were done along with the climax of the year, the annual trip.

Stage Band Swings

East High School's dance band brought much entertainment to many people during the year. With Mr. Frank Stark as their director, members practiced, and presented both recent and past musical favorites to its listeners.

Pep, Squire Bands

. . . And the pep band played on.

"Stripper", "Can-Can", "Go Twist" — these were just a few of the many lively tunes the indispensable Pep Band played at the pep assemblies. It provided music for the songleaders' routines and background music for the skits. Everyone cheered to the beat of the drums. The Pep Band contributed much to the spirit and excitement of the pep assemblies.

For the first time at East, the Squire Band, which is about half the size of First Band, marched in parades. It practiced outside on cold, misty mornings and on hot, sticky ones. It promoted school pride when it played at frosh sports. It played in concerts and helped raise money. The Squire Band became an asset to East's music department.

Frosh clarinet players found that it took hours of practice to learn concert music.

Knightones Perform for Many Outside Organizations, Clubs

Under the direction of Mr. LeRoy Spitzer, Knightones and Choir underwent a very vigorous year. Besides concerts at Christmas, in the spring, and for Armed Forces Day, there were choral contests and numerous outside performances. As a new innovation in the vocal program, both Choir and Knightones traveled to Shorecrest High School in Seattle, Washington, for an exchange assembly on April 16th.

Performing widely through the year were Sandi Garland, Mary Felix, and Verla Letson, Girls' Trio.

Jim Demko, Randy Deisher, Mark McDaniel, and Randy Spitzer formed the popular Boy's Quartet.

Letterman's Club Pursues School Service, Activities

Thirty-two boys comprised the Letterman's Club who retained their legacy as the "paddle squad" at football games. Equally befitting as an assembly squad, lettermen alternated in holding the ropes at school assemblies and maintaining order. In compliance with the club's title, a varsity letter was a requirement for prospective membership. Under the direction of advisor Mr. Les Eathorne, the lettermen sponsored two major attractions of the year, the Alumni Game and the Varsity Review.

"A sport for every girl and a girl for every sport", was the motto of the Girls' Athletic Association of East High School. Under the leadership of their advisor, Mrs. Christine Petig, the girls participated in such sports as soccer, volleyball, archery, softball, tennis, bowling, and swimming. Another favorite sport was boys, as became evident by the sponsoring of the annual Sweetheart Swirl.

Initial Successes Spur Further Wins

Fingers cramped around a pen, a girl hastily jotted down seemingly unintelligible notes on a cluttered sheet of paper. Shuffling through a card file, her partner hunted for a quotation that would shoot their opponents down in flames. The debaters of East burned the midnight oil for many nights to send many of our foes to defeat. Besides meeting the several Olympic-area teams, they also participated in tournaments and contests. Besides debates, they sought individual honors in oratory, extemporaneous, and impromptu speaking.

Science Club Plans Active Year

The Science Club is devoted to furthering the cause of science. This year the club planned again to put on demonstration of science in the elementary schools. They also planned to broaden the knowledge of the members through field trips and exibits at the meetings. There are no dues required by the club. Money is raised solely by the selling of popcorn and snow cones on Fridays. The biggest event planned by the club was a trip to the Hanford Atomic works.

D.E. Attributes

Revendedors was the club name for the Distributive Education Class at East. Field trips to such places as the Bon Marche and Frederick and Nelson in Seattle supplemented regular activities. Twelve members of the club engaged in a sales demonstration contest in Yakima which enabled them to display their skills in salesmanship.

Roger Finucan related his salesmanship experiences to the other members in Distributive Education.

A guest speaker, Mr. George McKenzie, spoke about credit.

Success to Hard, Organized Work

To support their club, D.E. members Carol Waldram and Pat Gehlhausen sold donuts.

Doug Frodd employed his salesmanship knowledge at his job.

Decorating the showcase periodically was the responsibility of the Revendedors.

Affiliation with the Revendedors required strict classroom attention.

Hectic Hours Precede Deadlines

Pages of layouts and copy had to be finished. The charts on the blackboard counted away the tense days before the dreaded deadline. The clam dip was nearly empty and rations of potato chips and cokes lay on work-piled desks. This and much more went into the creation of this year's Shield. Students combined the effort and teamwork necessary for a big job. It was an experience of cooperating with others to achieve a common goal.

Knightimes Informs

Many long hours of careful thought and as many frantic last-minute efforts were put in by this year's Knightimes staff in its efforts to produce an informative and popular newspaper. As advisor, Mrs. Carolyn Merrifield encouraged all students to voice their opinions through an opinion column, new to the paper this year.

Key Club Has Successful Second Year

Key Club is an opportunity for leaders and potential leaders of all high school age groups to provide a combination of worthwhile services to their high school, community and nation. Under the guidance of its officers, advisor, and supporting Kiwanis Club, the Key Club had a successful second year. Among some of its projects this year were donations to March of Dimes, UGN, Red Cross, and the Bremerton Sun Bellringer Fund. To finance its projects, the club sold cushions at the Kitsap County Fair and at many of the football games. In order to keep up the morale and spirit of the club, it had many varied social functions such as Sonic Basketball Games, a tour of the USS HULL DD-945, and athletic games with the Kiwanis Club. Long nights and hard work on the part of all helped to make the second year for the Key Club of East High one that its members will not ever forget.

Jerry Miller, Don Cosner, Dave Bray, and Don Maiers examined the controls of the USS HULL during their visit.

Ski Club Enjoys Outdoor Sports

The ability to ski was of little importance for participation in the 68-69 Ski Club. Taking advantage of the Northwest's mountain slopes, ski opportunities were available for both the amateur and the expert. Advised by Mr. Robert Batterman, the group widened to include a variety of sports and activities such as ice-skating, hiking, and a spring trip to the ocean. Ski Club's membership more than doubled during the year to include 130 students. To finance their numerous excursions the club sponsored various projects, the most rewarding of these being an after-game dance featuring the Sundae Fever.

High-jumping cheer queen Lynda Rynd led basketball fans in the yell "two bits."

Rally Squad's Unfailing

Sophomore song leader Judy Williams rehearsed the swinging routine done to the tune of "Rock-in-Our-Times."

Cheer leader Lory Gavin spent much time practicing cheers before games and pep assemblies.

Whether painting the many signs that decorated the cafeteria through the year or displaying their effervescent personalities despite downpours, the cheer and song squad constantly radiated a proud "Knight spirit."

Skirts swirling, Sheryl Wilson entertained at a pep assembly.

Completing the list of cheer and song leaders were song queen Ellen Sokolowsky, Cathy Boden, Judy Williams, and cheer queen Lynda Rynd.

Flashing a bright smile, song queen Ellen Sokolowsky snapped into a routine.

Enthusiasm Elevates Knight Spirit

Led by song queen Ellen Sokolowsky and cheer queen Lynda Rynd, the girls hosted welcoming dinners for visiting rally squads, provided goodies for the teams after away games, and attended seminars to exchange the latest pep ideas.

Cheer princess Cathy Boden reflected her school spirit, leading yells.

The night of the Mt. Tahoma game saw Barbara Boden enthusiastically leading a chant.

"Stop, look, and listen, we are the mighty East Knights," chanted senior cheer leader Val Lobe.

Pep Club Promotes Knight Pride

Throughout East's history Varsity Pep Club has been one of the largest and most active organizations. This year Pep Club continued to expand to include over two hundred members.

Advised by Mrs. Sandy Brown, Pep Club innovated many new practices, some of which included new outfits for all participants, the formation of the Pep Club Council, designed to allow members to voice their opinions in small discussion groups, and the writing of Pep Club's first constitution. The group also upheld the past tradition of displaying Knight Pride and faithfully cheered East's athletic teams on to victory.

Latin Club Attends State Convention

East's Latin Club commenced its year with a carmel apple sale to raise money to finance its various functions. The first event, the Initiation Party, was combined with the Saturnalia celebration, the Roman equivalent of Christmas. This was followed by the Roman Banquet and later, Travel Knight, sponsored by all language clubs. A major event of the year was the state Latin Convention in Seattle attended by a number of club members.

French Knights Grow in Size And Activities

With an increased membership, the French Club also increased it's activities. Under the leadership of its advisor, Miss Martin, Les Chavaliers Francais followed a most active schedule of various projects. French Club members used pen pals from France and the International Banquet to introduce them to the culture of France. To finance these activities and their traditional Homecoming float, the French Club added money to it's treasury with candy and popcorn sales and participated in Travel Knight.

French Club President Steve Ladd led a discussion concerning money raising ideas.

Los Conquistadores Hold Pinata Party

Los Conquistadores, the fifty-five members of the Spanish Club, strove this year to learn about the customs and cultures of those countries in which Spanish is the official language. To finance these projects, the club promoted several money-making ideas. The Pinata Party is traditional in Spanish speaking countries. The pinata is broken open by a blindfolded player with a stick.

German Club Selects New Pin Style

One of the first activities of East's German Club was choosing a new style pin. Then, under supervision of Miss Hess, members held a Christmas party, with skits presented by German classes. Other highlights of the year were a candy sale, a homecoming float, and an athletic contest.

Chessmen Checkmate Their Foes

Members of the Chess Club could be seen any day practicing for their next tournament. They gathered in either the library or the math lab to challenge each other for positions. This unique organization was composed of people who represented all of the degrees of interest in the game. They ranged from the casually interested to the avid player who played every chance he got. In competition, they showed their prowess against such rivals as West and South Kitsap.

Political Science Club Attends Convention

Purpose of the Political Science Club was to bring a greater understanding of the political world to the student. They achieved this by attending a mock U.N. meeting at Central Washington State College. They brought speakers and political candidates to their meetings.They even did as much as possible to lower the voting age to 18.

Title I Club Gains New Experiences

Although the Title I Club was new to East High School, it has been in existence for several years. This group was an outgrowth of an experimental summer school which began in 1967 and has since expanded extensively. Under the guidance of Mr. Gordon Berry, President Luci Gilmore, Secretary Dennis Dibley, Treasurer Richard Hatfield, and Newspaper Correspondent Curt Mosbarger planned the group's varied activities.

The spirit of the program, which was to experiment and experience, stressed our relationship to the world about us. Members developed a variety of skills, producing original plays, movies, and television programs as well as viewing the works of others. The club saw "Our Town" at the Seattle Repertory and the screen production of "Oliver" as well as attending a concert by The Fifth Dimension and enjoying mountain hikes.

Student Life Reflects Interests of All

A student's day was composed of a variety of sensations. School experience meant periods of tranquillity and concentration amid excitement and vitality. Memories of snow-filled courtyards and icicles were mingled with thoughts of warm sunny days and refreshing spring breezes.

East 20 Mt. Tahoma 6

From third in state to a record of 7-1-1, the Knights set one of the finest winning records in the history of East.

All East Knights were proud of the football team throughout the season of 1968. From the beginning to the victorious finish, the Knights maintained their poise and sportsmanship along with the well-deserved respect of their foes.

East started the season with the Knights meeting the Irish from O'Dea. East came out on top, 14-0 and was well on its way to the finest season in years. Lincoln was next in line and the Abes fell before the powerful Knights 13-0. West High challenged the Knights in the next game. The Knights led throughout the game, but the Wildcat crawled back in the final minutes to salvage a 6-6 tie. The Knights took their disgust on Vancouver College, trouncing the Irish 19-6. North Kitsap was next in line. The Knights took the Vikings in their stride and ran by them 20-6. The most important game of the season came next. Central and the Knights were tied for first in the Olympic League. The Cougars managed to slip by the Knights 10-0 to take their first championship since 1956. Shelton bowed to the Knights 33-14. Mt. Tahoma wound up the season for East and the Knights finished the season on a victory note trouncing the Thunderbirds 20-6.

East's defense and offense shone brightly throughout the season. Behind them stood senior captain big Dave Pyles.

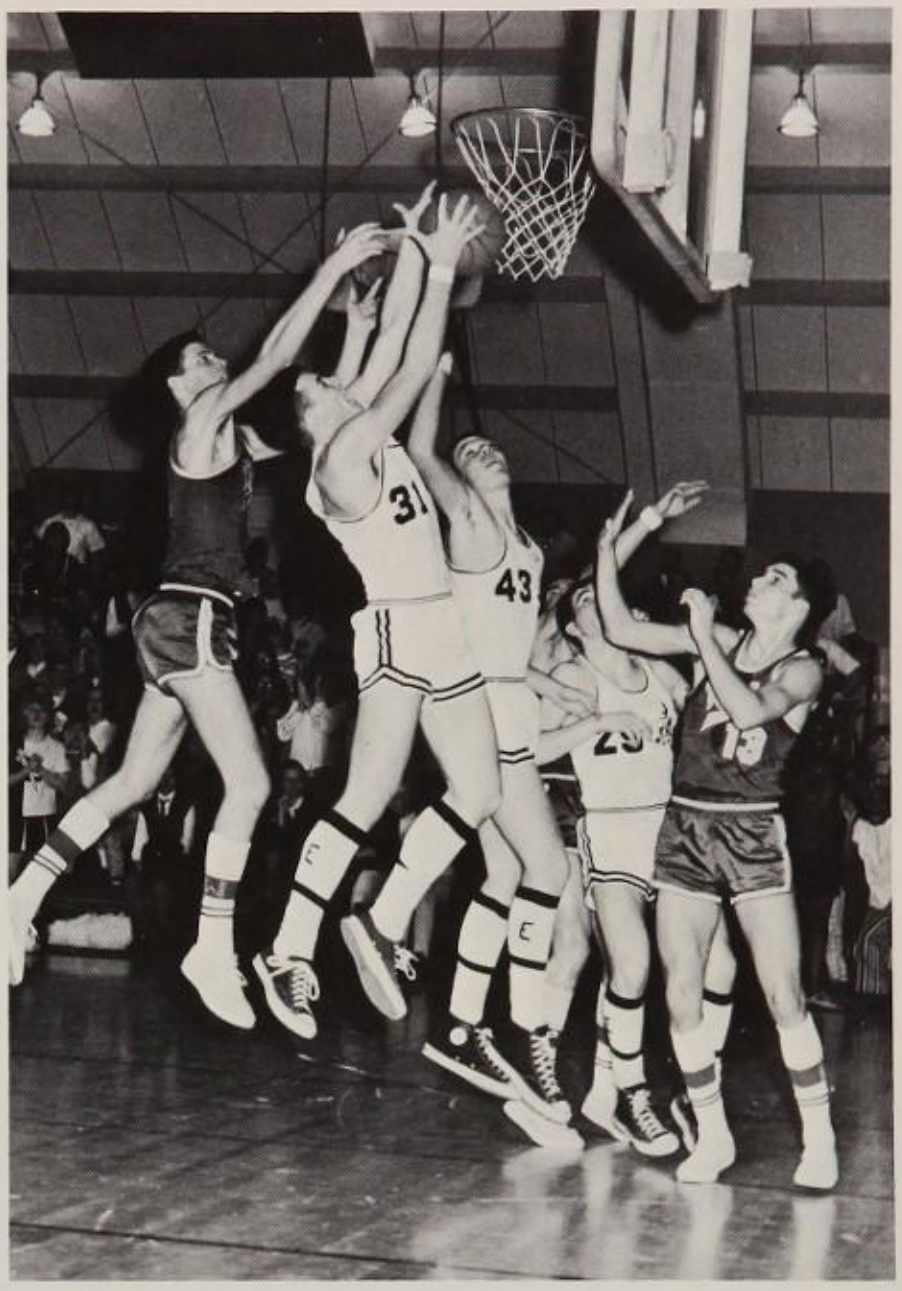
With only two returning lettermen and some added height, the Knights came on strong after a slow start to finish in a tie for second place in the league. The overall record for the season was 14-6. Two transfers and returning junior varsity players contributed to the highly successful 68-69 basketball season.

East started out on a victorious note by defeating its first five opponents. But the winning streak did not last. The Knights bowed out to Central, Bainbridge, and North. Then with an unbelievable desire to win, East won 8 out of the next 9 games, losing only to the Cougars of Central.

From a last place standing to second place, East earned a play-off with Bainbridge. But with the loss of three starters, the Knights lost in overtime by 75-72.

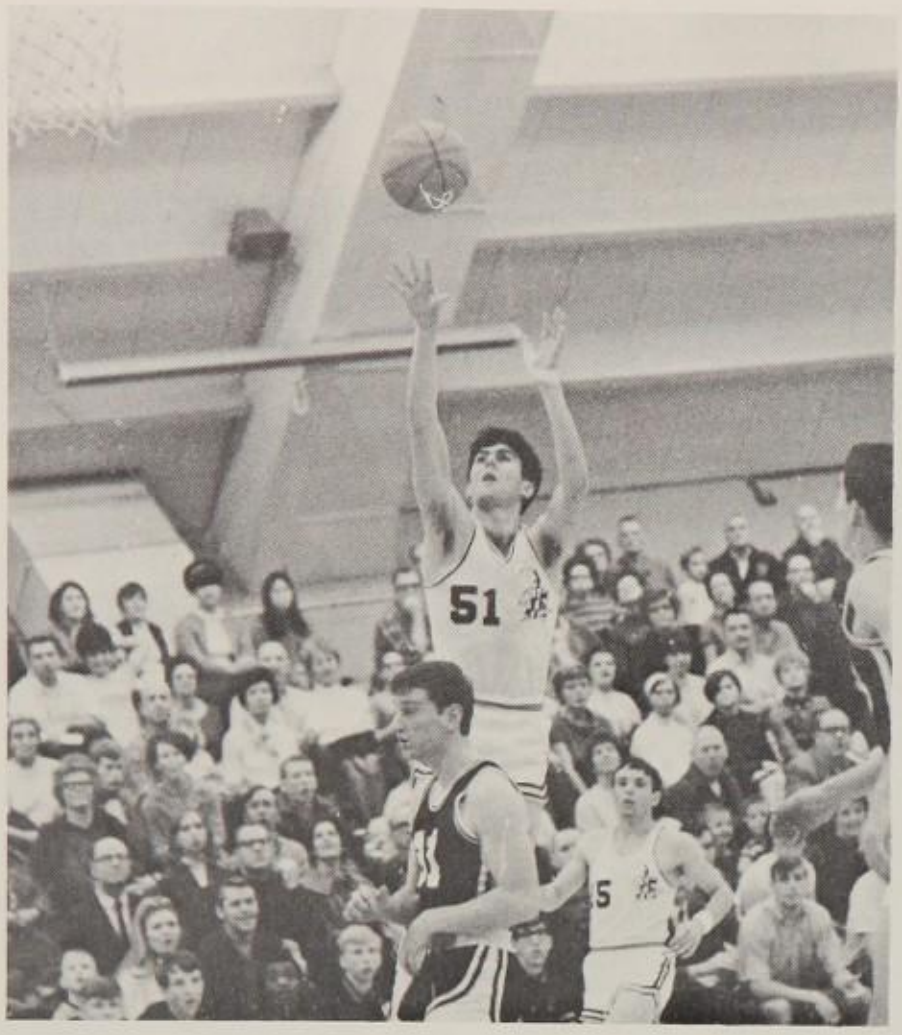
Knights Trounce Wildcats Twice

Guards Hussey and Pyles discussed strategy with Coach Eathorne in final minutes of Shelton game.



Mike Dotson fought for rebound in West game in full view of a capacity crowd of more than 2 thousand fans.

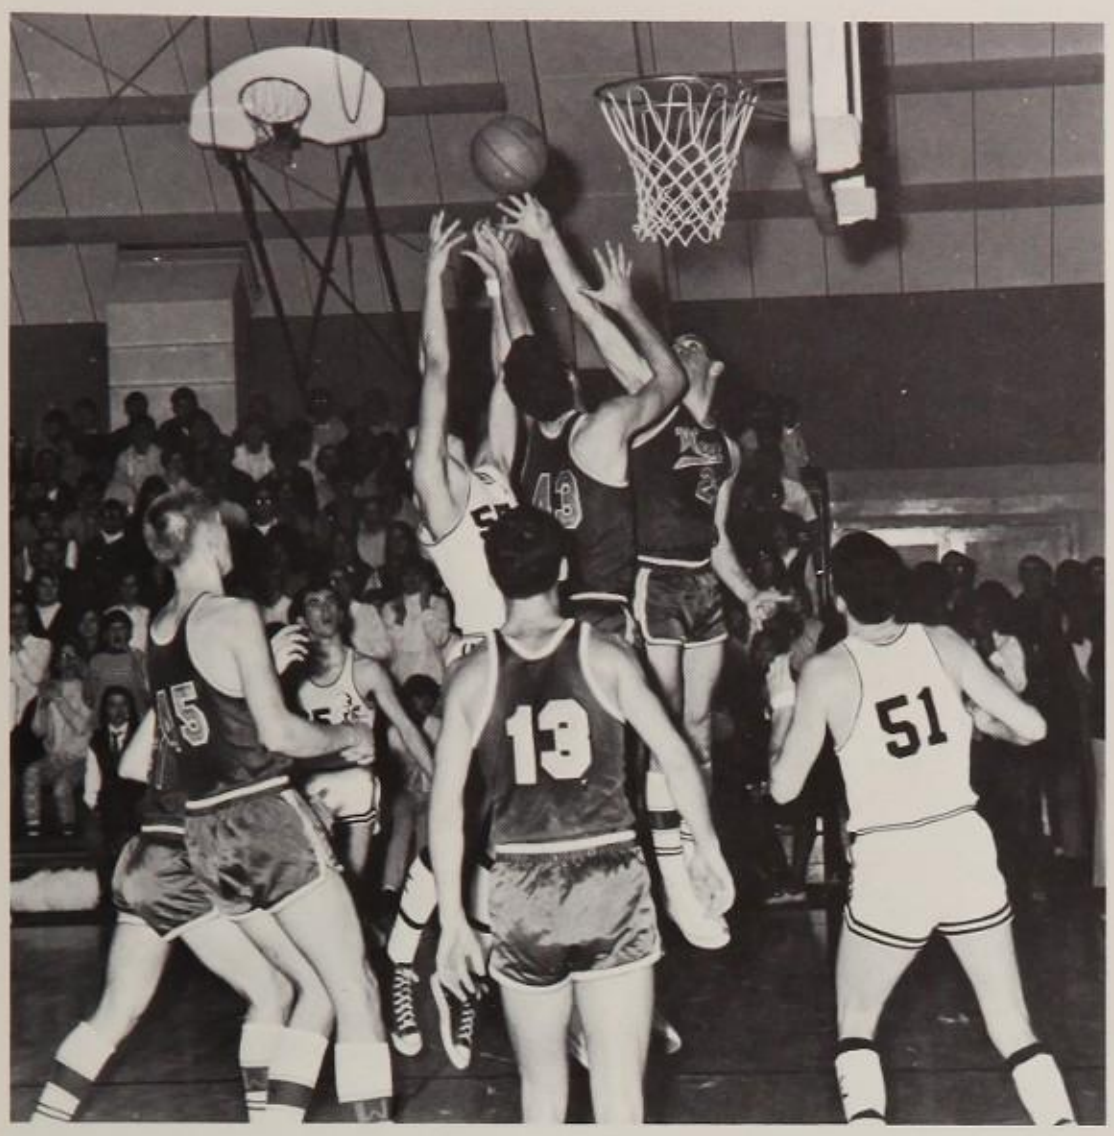
Reserve center, Steve Boyce, gunned up a shot from the foul line. Boyce played very well in East's victory over Shelton.



Senior Forward and one of two returning lettermen, Ben Manchion scored a field goal against Shelton.

Gary Hussey, a transfer from Port Angeles, used his P.A. spin to score on one of East's many fast breaks.

Playmaker, letterman and leading scorer, Dave Pyles set up a play with junior center Marc Soriano.



Junior Marc Soriano fought aggressively for a rebound in the first game with arch-rival West High. East came out victorious.

Steve Boyce gained valuable experience as East's second varsity player as a Sophomore.

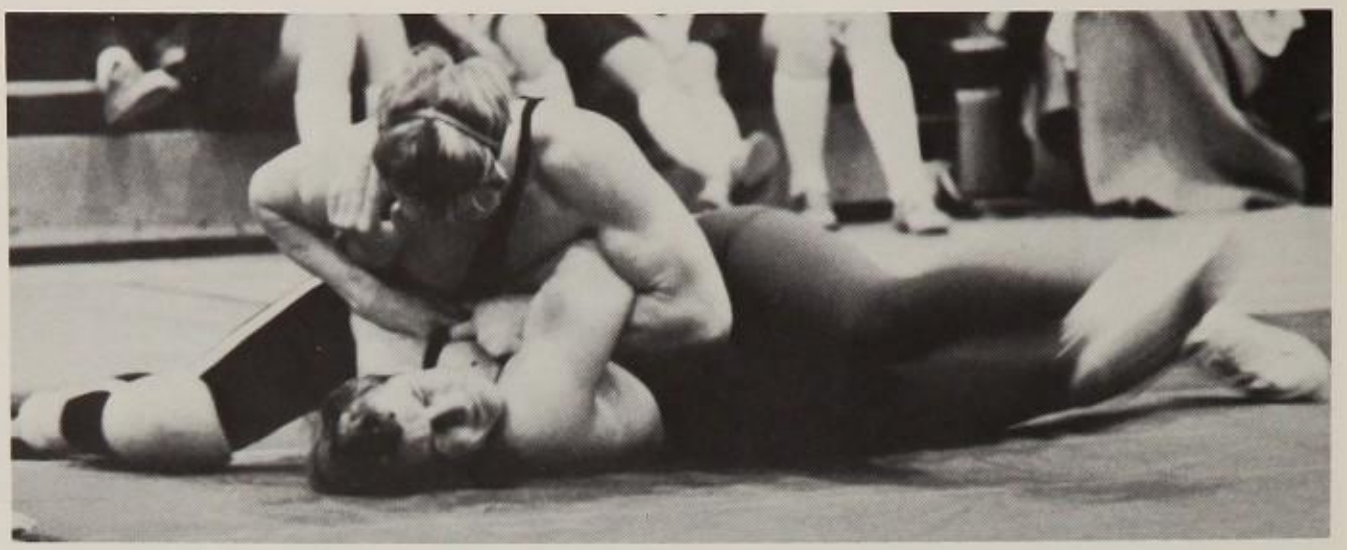
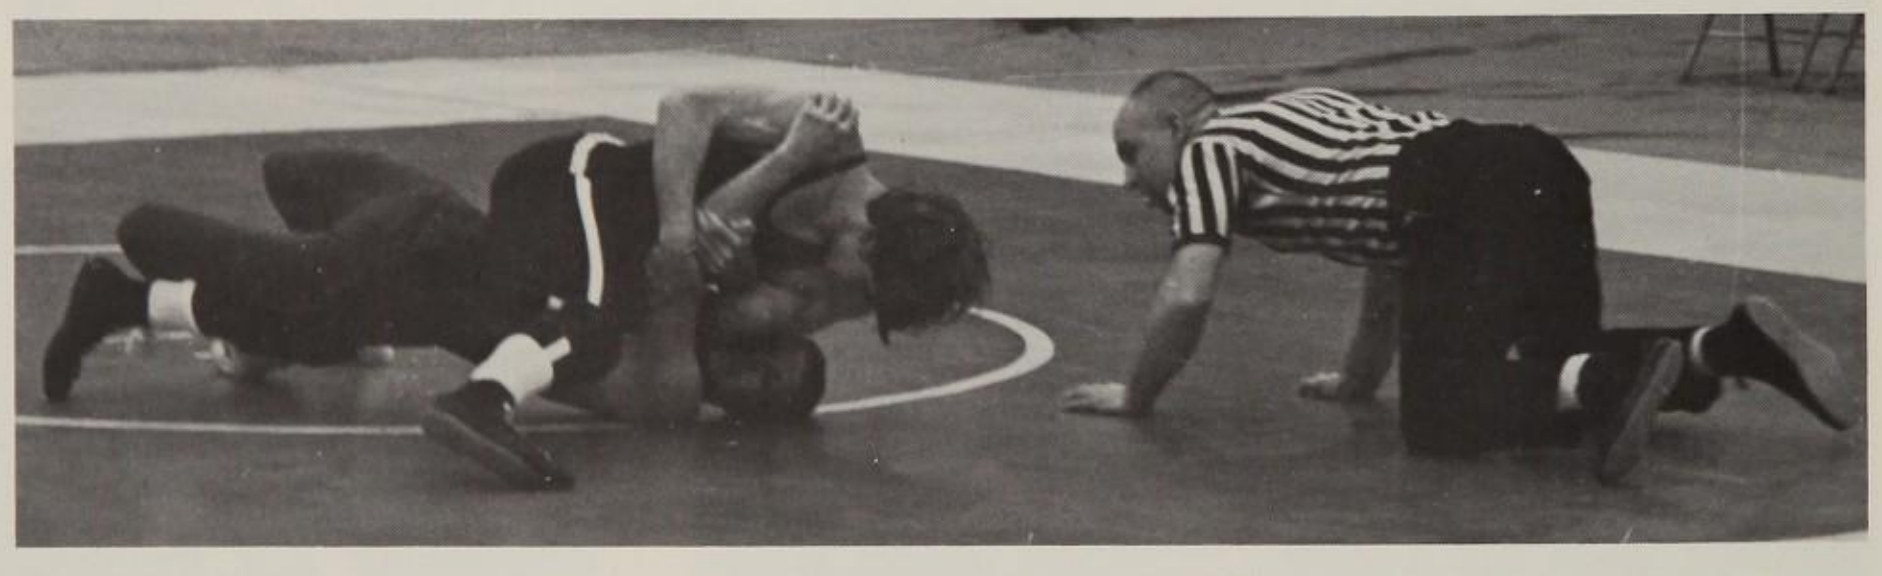
Wrestlers Stack Impressive Record

RIGHT: Senior Mark Branch applied the pressure in order to pin his opponent. Mark eventually gained a berth in the state tournament where he captured third place at 165 pounds.



BELOW: Mike Coonfield, senior letterman, found it tough in the 127 pound weight division. Coonfield also earned a berth in the state tournament — his second time in as many years.



Wrestling Becomes Third Largest Sport

For the first time in four years, the Knight Wrestlers are not Olympic League Champions. A bad year? Not at all! Hustle led the varsity to a ten win, three loss record. Included in the victories were a 24-23 win over West and an upset over Auburn who went on to become West Central District champions.

The song and cheer leaders led ever increasing crowds as the winning records of Randy Korb, Mike Coonfield, Jeff Coombe, Greg Steinkraus, Mark Branch, and Roger Bright highlighted the season. Team effort was often the key and the above winners received able support from senior Chuck Gallagher and sophomores Vern Simmons, Mike Taylor, George Payne, and Willie Alley. Junior Randy LeBeau occasionally showed the brilliance that, combined with Coombe, will be the basis of next year's squad. Rich Hanna exemplified team spirit as he served as utility man at several weights and often faced the "tiger" of the opposition.

Simmons and Coombe joined Korb, Coonfield, Steinkraus, and Branch at the District tournament. Branch and Coonfield went on to the State tournament where Mark placed third.

East's JV's remained unbeaten over a three year span and had a 10-0 record this year. Juniors Bob Henry, Bill Buhl, Ron Allen, and Mark Kluth set the pace and were supported by the winning efforts of Chuck Winter, Dan Knott, Dave Marks, and Chip Christenson from the class of '71.

Guillotine!! Grapevine!! Whizzer!! These are the names of only a few of the intricate moves interscholastic wrestlers used. Seventy Knights began in mid-November developing knowledge of these and other holds and seeking the speed and strength to use them. By mid-December some had surrendered to fatigue and monotony. But several dozen wore the Black and White in competition, showing that they were the finest in their weight class. A few gained District and State honors, placing them among champions.

Intramurals Promote Sports Participation

Basketball and volleyball were two of the sports offered in the intramural program. Tremendous desire and spirit were evident as players in sufficient numbers consistently turned out each morning. This year a new ASB-sponsored "sport" was initiated into the intramural program . . . a pinochle tournament. A double-elimination bracket was instituted and prizes were awarded to the championship team. Girls also found the intramurals to be interesting as well as instructive as they participated in archery, bowling, and volleyball. Many of these activities were in connection with a function of the Girls' Athletic Association.

Track, An Individual's Sport

Long strenuous hours, hard work, pain, pulled muscles, aching feet, cold rain, and mud all went into a typical day of practice. Dedication to improving time, height or distance were very essential in building a physically fit body and a championship team.

Competition in meets meant butterflies in your stomach, sweat, concentration, hardly speaking to your best friend, wishing your opponent good luck, setting your blocks and waiting, waiting for the start of your event.

Dust and Rain

This year's varsity baseball team was again coached by Doug McClary with assistant and frosh coach Robert Battermann. Returning senior letterman Chuck Gallager, Gary Hussey, Ed Johnson, Dave Pyles, Jim Rye, Dave Smith, and Terry Welling were the nucleus of the squad. Team strength and leadership fell almost entirely upon the shoulders of those particular players as they strived to capture another Knight league championship.

The varsity completed a twenty-one game season with relative success. Partially on account of high batting percentages and also a strong defense, the baseball squad was able to overcome the obstacles by which many lesser teams had fallen by the wayside. Through the extensive use of the batter's cage and the pitching machine, team members were able to markedly improve their batting averages. In addition to teamwork, an alert defense was of the utmost importance and the essence of the game.

Tennis Team Volleys to Victory

Led by singles champion Ann Garrison, East High's Girls' tennis team experienced one of its most successful seasons, ending in a first place three-way tie with Bainbridge and North Mason. Under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Simcic, the girls contributed much time and skill throughout the season.

Coached by Mr. Richard Danubio, members of the Boy's tennis team, playing in the spring, also contributed much to East's sports department. While contributing they often gained much from their endeavors. Not only were form and rules stressed, but the members were also instructed in teamwork and sportsmanship.

In a practice session, Debby Allan waited for her opponent to serve the ball to start the next match.

Golfers Swing Into Season

Twelve East High School golfers, coached by Mr. James Hassett, practiced long hours on the Kitsap Golf and Country Club green. Beginning in March the Knight golf team swung into a hectic schedule.

Meeting with several local high schools, some of which were Port Townsend, Bainbridge, Shelton, West, Vashon, Central and South Kitsap, the members improved old techniques and learned new ones.

A correct stance is necessary to assure a good tee-off, as Gary Torgerson demonstrated.

Rick Johnson learned the importance of practicing while swinging through golf season.

An essential aspect to fine golfing is a good swing. Ken Drew practiced his swing prior to the first match of the season.

Homecoming, Senior Ball Highlight Year

ABOVE: Gail Roddy, Cathy Ziska, Jan Bastron, and Louise Dill listened as senior activities were planned. BELOW: Becky Wischhoefer absorbed the lecture given in Social Studies.

As September emerged from summer vacation, the class of '69 entered East's doors for their final year of high school. Homecoming was the first big event of the year. The traditional Homecoming week started with the coronation of Cathy Boden to reign as queen throughout the week-long activities. Highlights were the victory bonfire, the float caravan, the victorious game with Shelton, and the Homecoming dance. In the latter part of November came the Senior Ball at the Kitsap Country Golf and Country Club, the theme of which was "Night Lites." In preparation for the coming years, many seniors spent hours filling out college applications. In January as the first semester drew to an end, hours of burning the midnight oil were necessary to get that final bit of learning done. In the spring, preparation for graduation, announcements, caps and gowns, and the senior party were made. Spring weather brought the feeling of apathy toward school, but the final moment of liberation did not come until after the diplomas were given out at commencements.

Juniors Display Many Varied Talents

After two years of hard work and much effort, the class of '70 assumed the role of upperclassmen. With the title came new responsibilities which included sponsoring their first formal dance, planning the Senior Tea, and selling at concessions.

Led by their class officers, the junior class displayed their talents and skills, by participating in student government and the music and athletic departments. Their scholastic abilities also became evident. Juniors took part in East's honors program and the National Honor Society. The class of '70 anticipated its final year at East.

RIGHT: Junior class rings arrived on October 9, 1968. Many styles were available to satisfy the varied tastes of the junior class. After months of anticipation, their arrival was greatly appreciated.

Sophomores Advance

Sophomore class grew from its primeval beginnings as freshmen into full-fledged members of the East High School student body. Led by their class advisor, Mr. Robert Battermann, the sophomores made great advances in securing money for the soirees traditionally held in their junior and senior years at East. They captured first prize in the Homecoming float contest and showed their school spirit in the tremendous volume of the cheer produced during the pep assemblies. A few projects that were accomplished included carwashes, a Thanksgiving food drive, and some bake sales.

Mr. Battermann advised the sophomores in addition to teaching physics and coaching football.

Daryl Schruhl quietly contemplated the beauty of English literature.

Mrs. Cunningham, class advisor, discussed class projects with Rick Bearbower and John Vertefeuille.

Active Is the Word for Frosh

Energy and enthusiasm marked the class of 1972 as they participated in clubs, games and various projects during their first year of high school. Led by Mrs. Cunningham and their officers, they began to fill the class treasury by having two profitable car washes in the summer.

Using five float committees, the hard-working frosh won third place at Homecoming with their "hot" float, "Cremate the Climbers."

Above seated: Secretary Kay Jones and Treasurer John Vertefeuille. Standing: Vice-President Rick Bearbower and President Terry Black. All gave valuable leadership to the class.

The squires contributed their talents to East's First Band, Frosh Band, Dance Band, Girl's Glee, and Chorus. The five freshmen cheerleaders raised the flag at all the varsity football games.

These energetic freshmen look forward to three more successful years as East High Knights.

Debbie,
Its really been nice knowing you all these years and I enjoy it even more having you live out by us. I'm going to miss not being able to walk down to your house when you're in Utah! But it's your loss. Just remember to write. I have fun this summer. Love ya

Hi,

Well—what can I say? It's been a real rough year! (with Kathy (Hoff) and all.) We've had a good time though. Nice to have friends as [illegible] Both Steve and I think it made [illegible] but I think it really helped me out the most!!

I hope we can get together when you get back from Utah. It's too bad you won't be here for Ten Fair. (Call me the second you get home!)

Love ya

Debbie,
I'm really glad I got to know you better this year cause last year we weren't on too good of terms and it really wasn't worth it, was it? Its been alot of fun telling you and Kaye

Debbie,

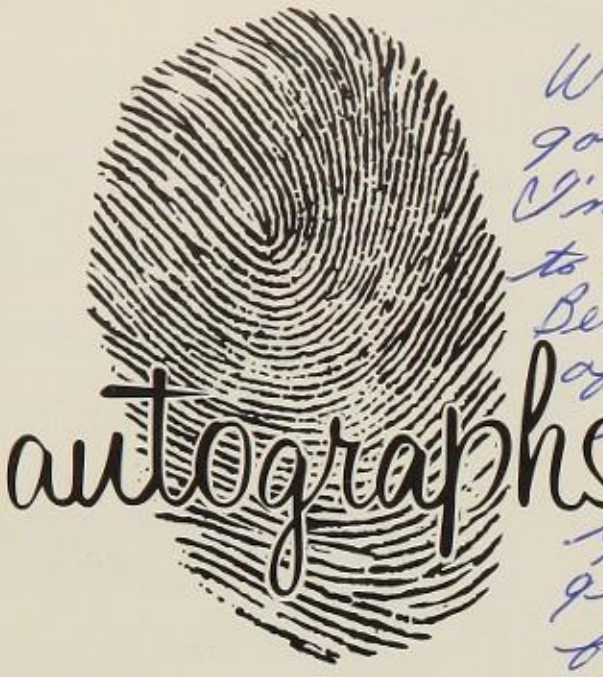
Its been fun getting to know you this year in typing. I'm glad its over with. Your really cute and sweet - I hope you have a fun summer and good luck next year as a Senior!

Love,
Carole



Deb-

Well this year we've really gotten to know eachother alot. I'm glad that you could come to me in strict confidence, Because I feel that you are one of my good friends and I can keep things you tell me to myself. Stay with Steve if you think its best. Hope you guys keep on going together for along time. Have fun working this summer. Be good to Steve if he's good to you. Always remember me after you make all that money this summer. Don't forget to write to me when your gone. See ya' next year. Good Luck.

Chris W.

Dear-

I really think your a great friend. Last year in Chris Ed. you made me forget how stupid this people were to and you made me full better. Thanks for all the laughs we shared I had so much fun with you. I enjoyed your every minute. I hope to see you this summer my phone no. is 257-4748 call me up anytime. Hope you have fun in Utah. Best Luck with Steve, Thank. Always be yourself wonderful person & be wonderful friend.

(Love ya

Deb,
Well, It's getting to be that time of year again huh? It's been fun this year for me just watching you and "Red" fight! Not really. Too bad you've got to leave this summer. You might miss something! Oh well, Hope you have a good time (out of state) and don't forget to come back!

Love-n-kisses
Doug

P.S I'll keep a special eye
Steve for you. If he gets into any trouble, I will tell you. O.K

Deb, remember what a great time we had in Richardson class? She's a great teacher? and Phil Royer was alright too. Well I guess the summers here time for fun and frolic! Well have a party all be good.

Love & kisses and all that mush

Dan Mantyla

Debbie,

It sure was fun knowing you this year year. All those fun times we had + you trying to play cupid with me + your sister, but you tried. We'll have fun this summer + I'll miss you.

Debbie,

Our junior is finally almost over - Thank God. Now, we'll be great big Seniors, as if you didn't know! Next year, I hope will be alot more friendly - our class — its sure doesn't get along very well! We'll have to do something about that year!

Be good, and keep impressing the guys. Have fun in Utah — don't forget to write to 206 Willow. OK? promise?

Best of luck to a really groovy girl.

Love, Mary Topless
